

Peter Love forms Love Energy Consultants Inc.

Peter Love, Ontario's first Chief Energy Conservation Officer, recently formed a consultancy firm to foster culture change as part of his commitment to advancing sustainability. He will be available to journalists and authorities to speak on a number of topics regarding energy efficiency and sustainability, including:

- Potential, targets, programs and trends, in energy conservation
- Energy pricing and conservation
- Demand management
- The Green Energy Act
- Renewable energy
- Culture of conservation
- Employment, economy and environment related to conservation

Peter is experienced in energy efficiency nationally and globally. He has spoken in conferences such as EE Global in Washington D.C. and Paris, France, the Electric Utilities Environment Conference in Phoenix, as well as the Globe international environment conference in Vancouver

On the national scale, Peter continues to serve as member of the National Advisory committee on energy efficiency accumulating much knowledge regarding energy efficiency in Canada, and will be able to speak about energy efficiency in Canada.

In 2005, Peter was recruited by the Ontario Power Authority (OPA) as Ontario's First Chief Energy Conservation Officer. During his time with the OPA, he provided leadership in electricity conservation as well as a culture of conservation in Ontario.

Prior to his employment at the OPA, Peter was the President of EnerQuality Corporation, where he managed the R-2000 and Energy Star Home programs. From 2000-2005, he was the Executive Director of the Canadian Energy Efficiency Alliance. In his early years, Peter was the project coordinator for Pollution Probe and helped develop the "Reduce, Reuse, Recycle" campaign.

In recognition of Peter's commitment to sustainable buildings and energy efficiency, he was inducted into the EnerQuality/R-2000 Hall of Fame, and earned a Lifetime Achievement Award from Sustainable Buildings Canada.

As an active volunteer, Mr. Love serves on the Greening Greater Toronto Task Force. Previously, he was Chair of the Non-Smokers' Rights Association as well as the co-founder of the Movement against Acid Rain.

Peter has an MBA and BA from the University of Toronto, and has recently completed the Directors Education Program from the Institute of Corporate Directors.
