GreenSaver presents inaugural award to a graduate student in the University of Toronto's Centre for Environment

A graduate student in the Environmental Studies collaborative program at the Centre for Environment will receive the inaugural GreenSaver Alastair Fairweather Memorial Award from GreenSaver and the University of Toronto on Earth Day 2010. The award was established in memory of Alastair Fairweather, who passed away in October 2009. Alastair was actively involved in local environmental issues, and was a valued member of the Board of Directors of GreenSaver.

The award will be presented at the annual Centre for Environment's Research Day to be held on Earth Day - April 22, 2010. The winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship from GreenSaver, and may also have the opportunity to pursue an internship with the non-profit organization. The event is open to the public.
