Fun in the Mud!

Explore and learn with Ontario Nature at their Cawthra Mulock Nature Reserve

(Newmarket, Ontario) This Saturday, kids will be putting on their detective hats for a day of discovery at the Cawthra Mulock Nature Reserve. They will be exploring the reserve's regenerated wetland to find out which native freshwater shellfish and insects make their home there. Ontario Nature staff and local invertebrate experts will be on hand to guide their efforts. A wonderful way to experience nature in the Greater Toronto Area!

WHAT: Mucking Around at Mulock Family and Youth Event

WHEN: Saturday June 20, 2009 from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm

WHERE: Cawthra Mulock Nature Reserve: Take highway 404 north to Green Lane, then turn left (west) and keep going to Bathurst Street. Turn right (north) onto Bathurst Street. The nature reserve is the second driveway on the left (west) side of the road and is marked by a green Ontario Nature sign. Continue down the driveway past the white house (please respect the privacy of the tenants). You may park in front of the larger house at the end of the driveway.

WHO: Ontario Nature and local invertebrate experts
